Photography Exhibition Gallery Talk at the New Haven Museum

New Haven, CT, October 25, 2011—The New Haven Museum is pleased to present an opening reception and gallery talk on Thursday, November 3 from 5:30-7:30 PM. Jason Bischoff-Wurstle, the Museum's Director of Photographic Archives, will discuss some of the work on display in Reveal: Images of New Haven, 1850-1900, a new exhibition that explores how photography grew as technology developed to support the form in the early 1800's. The same can be said of the City of New Haven. As growth in technology transformed New Haven into a world renowned industrial center, photography captured the changing of the guard from the remnants of the colonial fight for independence to the foundation of the community we know today.

Jason Bischoff-Wurstle is the Director of Photographic Archives, and serves as Exhibition Director for the New Haven Museum. A resident of New Haven, Jason is responsible for the management of the Museum's collection of photographic materials, dating from the 1850's to today. Jason has curated and installed eight gallery exhibits at the New Haven Museum, and Pardee-Morris House from 2009-2011. Jason serves on the Boards of Directors of the New Haven Land Trust, and the New Haven Preservation Trust.

The gallery talk is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

The New Haven Museum is located in downtown New Haven at 114 Whitney Avenue. Limited parking is available behind the Museum. For more information, please contact Michelle Cheng, Director of Education, at (203) 562-4183 ext. 11 or education@newhavenmuseum.org.
